Description

A Large French polished Belgium slate mantel clock. It has a break arch top case, scroll sides and a block base, engraved and inlaid with malachite. It has a two piece enamel dial with a jewelled visible escapement that rocks in motion with the swinging pendulum. Below the clock is a barometer with an enamel dial, both the clock and barometer have thick bevel edge glass. The clock strikes the hours and halves on a bell and is of 8 day duration with one wind.
